VOLUME 27, NUMBER 18

May 5, 2016

Transitions

Before life got too busy, I dabbled in songwriting. It's been years since I wrote a song, but one of the last songs I wrote was for my mama. Each verse highlights a different transition in the life of a mother and son. The chorus reflects on the difficulty and inevitably of these transitions. Here are the lyrics:

I go off to school, the world at my feet.
 You cry on the bed where I used to sleep.
 I am the little boy who grew up too fast.
 You are the young girl who thought it would last.

This year's been a little harder.
 I was ready; you weren't ready,
 But that's how it goes.

I rush to my job; I learned life's not cheap.
 You call me on the phone; your voice sounds so sweet.
 You say, "Dad's not doing well. His heart's a little weak.
 He longs for the rain these days, so he can sleep."

This year's been a little harder.
 I wasn't ready; you weren't ready,
 But that's how it goes.

I kiss my bride; we run to the car.
 Your tears swell inside before we get very far.
 I'm now the grown man with my own family.
 You are the young girl who gave everything to me.

This year's been a little harder.
 I was ready; you weren't ready,
 But that's how it goes.

Transitions always carry with them a measure of pain. At times, the pain is exquisite. At other times, the pain is seemingly unbearable, such as when a child loses his or her mother. One of the reasons I long for heaven is because it will be a place where such painful transitions do not occur (Rev. 21:4).

THANK YOU

---

Thank you so much for the prayers, the cards, and the concern shown to me when I was recently hospitalized and in the nursing home. Betty Brown

Dear Ladies of the Church,

On behalf of the patients, families, and staff at the Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt, we thank you and everyone at Pulaski Street Church of Christ for your generous donation. The love and care you put into the hats is apparent! Thank you for sending these lighter hats to accommodate the needs of our oncology patients for the warmer months to come.

Because of your generosity, we are able to provide a sense of normalization for children and their families. Your gifts brought smiles, comfort, and peace to children and their families during a very difficult time in their lives. In addition to world class medical care, we believe that family support is central to helping us provide the best care for children and offer many resources for families. Children heal faster with their loved ones by their sides, and staying at a facility that doesn't feel like a hospital helps families focus on rest and recuperation.

Thank you for being a part of the great work at Children's Hospital. We hope you will continue to volunteer with us through your generosity. Donations year round make a difference! Gratefully,

Stephanie Van Dyke

Director, Child Life and Volunteer Services

Closing it out:

Austin Serrett is awesome! For any of you that were unable to be at worship at Pulaski Street last night, I would highly encourage you to go to the church website in the coming days and listen to the lesson that he delivered. Austin was nervous. He had talked to me in the days leading up to delivering his lesson and he was a little scared to do it. But, he did it anyway! And, he didn't just get up to speak; he did a fantastic job with it!

Austin is a great example in so many different ways, but think about what he did this past Sunday evening. He went through with doing something that had him just a little bit intimidated. He stared a fear straight in the eye, and beat it!

We are frequently faced with situations where we can do something to promote the Lord, His will, and His love. Sometimes, though, those situations can be a little bit intimidating. In fact, sometimes they are downright scary! But, as we continue to mature in Christ, as Austin so obviously has, we can gain the confidence to overcome our anxieties and share the gospel and the love of Christ with those around us. So, today, be like Austin! Go ahead and do something for the Lord that you have been a little apprehensive about!

Until next time...Jeremy
