VOLUME 29, NUMBER 35

August 30, 2018

The Unsettling Truth

Jesus preached what is undoubtedly the most famous or popular sermon ever preached: the so-called Sermon on the Mount. In the course of that sermon, He preached things that many would deem as positive, such as “So whatever you wish that others would do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets” (Matt. 7:12).

But in the next breath, Jesus began to discuss things that most people would deem as negative (Matthew 7:13-27). He said things that most people don’t want to hear, but they are things that people need to hear.

If you go to a doctor, the doctor is bound by an oath to give you the truth. If you have something wrong with you, the doctor is supposed to tell you the truth. If your prognosis is bad, he must share that with you. If what you are battling is terminal, he cannot withhold that information from you.

As a preacher of the Gospel, I am bound by God Himself—a higher oath, we might say—to preach the “whole counsel of God” (Acts 20:27), and that inevitably includes preaching or discussing things that most people would rather not think about. But they are things that could make the difference between “eternal punishment” and “eternal life” (Matt. 25:46).

In my relatively brief career as a preacher, I’ve encountered two extreme mindsets among Christians: (1) Those who want to hear nothing but hellfire and brimstone sermons; (2) Those who want to hear anything other than hellfire and brimstone sermons. Balance, I believe, is the key.

I don’t get any sadistic joy out of preaching or writing on hell or eternal punishment, but I know these things must be discussed, because they are as much a part of God’s Word as the death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Let’s also not forget that Jesus did what He did, in part, to provide us a way of escape from hell (cf. Rom. 5:9; 1 Thess. 1:10).

For one to suggest today, as Jesus Himself did, that there will be people in hell flies right in the face of our politically correct, pluralistic culture. While our culture may have streamlined heaven and air-conditioned hell, the fact still remains that we are either on the high road to heaven or the highway to hell. Over the next three weeks, my articles will focus on Jesus’ teaching in Matthew 7:13-27. Jesus didn’t shy away from the truth, because to love others is to share with them the truth, even when that truth might be unsettling.

THANK YOU

Dear Pulaski Street family,

Thank you so much for the dinner and all the gifts celebrating my high school graduation. I have used the gift cards to help with my dorm room purchases and all the other things I'm getting ready to use in my dorm room. I appreciate each and every one of the gifts that were given and prayers that were and have been prayed. I am truly blessed to have a church family that cares as much as you do and a place I can call home here at Pulaski Street Church of Christ. I am looking forward to attending Freed-Hardeman and hope you keep me in your prayers throughout my journey and completion. My FHU mailing address will be Kaleb Jeans, FHU 10464, 158 East Maines Street, Henderson, TN 38340. Thank you again and hope to see you all soon. Kaleb Jeans

Dear [Dorcas Group] Ladies of Pulaski Street Church of Christ,

On behalf of the patients, families and staff at the Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt, we thank you for your generous donation of 14 precious surgical caps for our young patients. We appreciate the care and detail that went into creating and donating these items for our patients. These are items that are immediately used by our patients and families. Because of your kindness, our young patients are able to access needed items when they might otherwise not have had the resources or the time to find just the right items.

Because of your generosity, we are able to provide a sense of normalization for children and their families. Your colorful caps brought smiles, comfort, and peace to children and their families during a very difficult time in their lives. In addition to world class medical care, we believe that family support is central to helping us provide the best care for children and offer many resources for families. Children heal faster with their loved ones by their sides, and staying at a facility that doesn't feel like a hospital helps families focus on rest and recuperation.

Thank you for being a part of the great work at Children's Hospital. We hope you will continue to volunteer with us through your generosity. Donations year round make a difference!

Gratefully, Stephanie Van Dyke,

Director, Child Life and Volunteer Services, Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at V'bilt

Closing it out...

In many ways, what we do today is predicated by those that have gone before us. A lot of the time, young parents will use similar parenting methods that their own parents used on them. Many people in the church will involve themselves in the same kinds of activities that their spiritual mentors did. Though I just gave two examples here, the list could go on, and I am sure that many of you that are reading this could think of several ways that this holds true that I would not think of.

I was reminded of the way that those that have gone before us benefit us so much this past Sunday. It was so encouraging to have Enoch Rinks with us at Pulaski Street! He helped mold and shape the lives of so many people, young and old, during the time that he spent here. It is obvious that he had a significant impact on the lives of a large number of people by the way that they still talk about how much he meant to them, even though it was almost two decades ago!

Though I didn't know Enoch well until quite some time after he had left Pulaski Street to do mission work in Paraguay, I am extremely thankful for him and what he did here. Over the years, I have been able to reap the benefits of the framework that he and others laid here for the youth program. I am blessed in my work with PSYG because of what Enoch did. I am thankful for him and the fact that the impact that he made is blessing me as the youth minister here still today.

Are we doing the same? Are we leaving examples of good works for those that will come after us to follow? If so, keep it up! If not, find what you can do, and do it with all of your energy!

Until next time...

Jeremy
