VOLUME 31, NUMBER 32

August 20, 2020

A Tale of Two People

Part One

Jeremiah, a prophet whom we know more about than any of the other writing prophets, was called by God around 626 BC to prophesy to the Southern Kingdom. About 100 years earlier, the Northern Kingdom fell to the Assyrians never to be resurrected again, and the Southern Kingdom was now in jeopardy of experiencing the same at the hands of the Babylonians.

Jeremiah's mission was both destructive and constructive. On the one hand, he solemnly lambasted Judah for their idolatry, wickedness, and corruption. They deserved God's punishment. On the other hand, Jeremiah sought to bring Judah to repentance, holding out hope that she would yet escape her impending demise. Nevertheless, according to Jeremiah 17:1-4, Judah's future was bleak.

In vv. 5-8, Jeremiah records a word from the Lord, presumably presenting Judah with a choice. Two types of people are depicted in stark contrast; the only similarity between them is the fact that they both trust in someone. We, like Judah, will put our trust, our final reliance, in someone or something. It might be God, or it might be another person, ourselves, or a thing. To be sure, we are all constantly putting some degree of trust in others. For example, if you were to board an airplane this afternoon, you would find yourself trusting the pilot to get you to your destination. But what is meant here in Jeremiah 17:5-8 is not that kind of trust, but the kind of trust in which there is a deep hope, reliance, and confidence—that which we expect to hold firm when everything else fails. Jeremiah 17:5-8 presents each one of us with this question: "In whom do you trust?"

According to our passage, in whom we place our trust, whether a human being or God, is the key difference between being cursed and being blessed. The verb "trusts" (vv. 5, 7) comes from a Hebrew word, which means "to rely on," "to be confident," or "to feel secure" (HALOT 1:120). Confidence, hope, and security all depend on the object of a person's trust.

Contextually speaking, we might ask in what way had Judah been guilty of placing her trust in man. Well, not only did the people of Judah put their trust in the words of false prophets (cf. Jer. 27—28:16), but they also made a terrible mistake by trusting in their alliances with foreign nations, including Egypt and Babylonia, as well as worshiping the gods of those nations (cf. Jer. 37:1-10).

Rather than placing their trust in God, many people today place their deep-seated trust or confidence in government officials, parents, or preachers. There is an old story of a father who took his young son out and stood him on the railing of the back porch. He then went down, stood on the lawn, and encouraged the little fellow to jump into his arms. "I'll catch you," the father said confidently. After a lot of coaxing, the little boy finally made the leap. When he did, the father stepped back and let the child fall to the ground. He then picked up his son, dusted him off, and dried his tears. "Let that be a lesson," he said sternly. "Don't ever trust anyone."

Now, on the one hand, I am disturbed by this story. This seems to be a rather dramatic, even unnecessary, way of making a point. I don't like the idea of a father letting his son fall and hit the ground, and there is certainly a sense in which we need to learn to trust other human beings.

On the other hand, the point of this story is not that much different from Jeremiah 17:5. People are people; they are not God. They cannot do what God can do. People will let you down; people will fail you. Other people were never meant to take the place of God. No human being can deliver like God can deliver. No human being can promise what God promises.

If we place our ultimate trust in man, we are cursed (vs. 5). But, if we place our ultimate trust in God, we are blessed; we will prosper (vs. 7). As David said, "Trust in Him at all times, O people, pour out your heart before Him; God is a refuge for us" (Ps. 62:8).

UPCOMING WORSHIP INFO

For the time being, "those to serve" assignments will not be listed in the bulletin.

We will be meeting in person for Sunday morning worship on Sunday, August 23, with guidelines and parameters in place in order to keep us all as safe and healthy as possible.

The elders, deacons, and their wives who are attending will be wearing masks. The elders encourage you to wear a mask when you attend the Sunday morning worship service in person.

If you are sick in any way or running a fever, we obviously expect you to continue to worship with us online or on the radio. If you are especially vulnerable to the more drastic effects of Covid-19 and/or these safety measures will be difficult or impossible for you to follow, then we understand if you choose to stay home and worship with us online or on the radio.

safety measures:

- Enter through the open doors in the foyer.
- Pick up PCK(s) and mask(s) (optional, but strongly encouraged) as you enter.
- Find a seat for your family (every other pew is taped off).
- Maintain social distancing (e.g., no handshaking or hugging; no sitting next to another family on the same pew).
- Minimize use of nursery and restrooms.
- Refrain from using the water fountains (bottled water available).
- Deposit your contribution in a basket, and throw away your PCK(s) as you leave through the foyer.

WILLIE MAE RIGGINS, mother of Tammy Foster, suffered multiple strokes on Monday evening, August 17, and fell to the floor, fracturing her hip and ankle. She was life-flighted to Skyline Medical Center (Nashville). As of Tuesday, August 18, her condition was not good.

Please continue to pray for all those recently mentioned.

THANK YOU

To our Pulaski Street family,

Thank you so much for your love and support shown to us during the loss of James. Thank you for all the prayers, calls, cards, and visits. Thank you for the food you graciously provided and for the beautiful flowers. Your love made our difficult time easier to endure. In Christian love, The family of James Keaton

YOUTH NEWS

Places are significant to each us in different ways. I'm certain that many of you have to do nothing more than see a picture of some specific place in order for memories of that place to flood your mind. Perhaps it's your grandparents' home. Maybe it's a restaurant you frequented in the past. Whatever those places may be, they cause us to remember particular things.

That's what I am hoping our current series of outdoor Bible classes will do for our teens! We will be meeting in different locations with lessons that are related in some way to each individual place. We had our first one this past Sunday evening, and we will be continuing to have about two classes each month. No food or drink will be provided at any of these, so eat before you come. Be sure to bring your Bible, and it would be helpful to bring a chair with you each time. While daylight allows it, we will be meeting from 6:30-7:30 p.m. for each class. In the event of bad weather, we may need to reschedule, and I'll give you a heads up at least two hours prior to our meeting.

Our next class will be this coming Sunday evening, August 23rd, around the pond behind the Donnellys' home. Parents, you are more than welcome to stick around for all of these Bible classes! Hope to see you there!

Until next time, Jeremy Gargis

SYMPATHY

We extend Christian love and sympathy to Darlene Dewberry on the death of her aunt, MAXINE CHAPMAN. Arrangements at Neal Funeral Home were incomplete at print time. Condolences may be sent to Darlene and Jay at 602 Hwy. 64 W., Lawrenceburg, TN 38464.

We extend Christian love and sympathy to the family of REBECCA NIELSEN. Mrs. Nielsen was the grandmother of Brad Nielsen. A graveside service was held on Sunday, August 16, in Martin, TN. Condolences may be sent to Brad and Emily and family at 207 Admiral Circle, Lawrenceburg, TN 38464.

We extend Christian love and sympathy to the family of ISLA GENTRY. Isla was the three-year-old great niece of Darrin McKamey; she had been battling acute myeloid leukemia (AML) for the past year. Isla's parents, Mike and Autumn Gentry, would appreciate cards of encouragement. Their address is 7804 W Clarke St., Wauwatosa, WI 53213. Condolences may be sent to Darrin and Allison at 614 Aspen Court, Lawrenceburg, TN 38464.

MEMORIAL

A donation from Robert Grisham, Jr. has been given to the Pulaski Street Youth Group in memory of BILL GRISHAM.
