Yesterday's Newspaper

The great golfer, Ben Hogan, had many failures at the beginning of his career. After playing a few tournaments and winning nothing, he ended up broke and had to return home to Texas. He was never discouraged and kept working on his game. He said his motto back then was "Yesterday's gone; that's why they report it in the newspapers."

As we enter a New Year, forget the failures and regrets of last year. Look to the hope of today. Don't be like Job's friends who looked only to "past generations" and lamented, "For we are only of yesterday and know nothing" (Job 8:8, 9). Instead, recall the words of Paul as he announced, "[O]ne thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forward to those things which are ahead" (Phil. 3:13).

What a blessing we now have in looking forward to the New Year! Think of the challenges, goals, opportunities, and successes that lie before us. Ben Hogan would end his career having won sixty-four tournaments, including nine majors. His early failures can only be found in yesterday's newspapers. Let it be true for us as well as we eagerly welcome in a new year.

thank you

To my church family,

I have been truly blessed through the years to have been a part of such a wonderful group. You helped me through many bouts with cancer, providing rides to the treatments and praying for me. I could not have made it without you. Thank you for each action in my behalf. I am now living in Alabama with my daughter and will miss seeing you. Please continue to pray for me. I love you all and hope to see you in the heavenly land.

In Christian love, Robbie Guthrie

Your prayers, love, and support are such a blessing to me and my family. I loved all of the cards and encouraging notes I received from the children, youth classes, and others. God is helping me every day and using special people like you to encourage me along the way! One day closer! Thank you.

Closing it out:

This past Sunday morning for the closing song, we sang "Above the Bright Blue" by Charles E. Pollock. It's a beautiful song and one that is frequently chosen by family members to sing at the funeral of a loved one. It has an appealing, hopeful sentiment, making it a great choice for that occasion.

The third verse includes a line that implies an attitude that we should always have as followers of Christ: "We know not when He shall call us, whether soon the glad summons shall be." While a summons from this life causes heartache for those left behind, a Christian has reason to be excited about such an occasion, knowing that better things lie ahead. What a blessing to be in Christ and have the confident expectation of dwelling above the bright blue for all of eternity!

Until next time...
