The children will be going to the various learning centers, as well as to the marketplace, Bibleland foods, crafts, and snacks. If you are able to help with this, please let Brandon Snider know.

Closing it out:

The list of people throughout history who felt at various points in time that they could not return to God after a season of life where they deserted Him or made a series of sinful choices is not a small one. Our emotions can play dangerous games with us at times, causing us to feel unworthy of forgiveness. Know that this is the work of Satan, not the desire of God!

Paul, the self-coined "chief of sinners," would argue against the inability to receive the forgiveness of God. The suffering Savior, Jesus Christ, through His love and sacrifice would argue against it as well. In fact, the story of Scripture points to the ability at any time, regardless of the past, to return to God! Regardless of how unredeemable you may feel, God feels different about it! Should you need to return to Him, do it!

"Yet even now," declares the LORD, "return to me with all your heart, with fasting, with weeping, and with mourning; and rend your hearts and not your garments." Return to the LORD your God, for He is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love; and he relents over disaster" (Joel 2:12-13).

Until next time...

Jeremy Gargis
