Closing it out:

I am excited that Jason Helton will be with us at Pulaski Street this coming Sunday! I have respected Jason for a long time and value the work that he does, especially when it comes to his work on technology and how it impacts us socially and spiritually. Below is a piece of the description of what we should expect from Jason.

"Was Solomon right when he said, 'There is nothing new under the sun?' While the sins that impact our lives have been the same since Solomon's day, access to those sins is always changing. This workshop will examine how the church should respond to new technology and how we can prepare and equip emerging generations to remain faithful while utilizing today's digital tools to glorify God and grow His Kingdom. We'll discuss topics like Artificial Intelligence, social media, digital addictions, the growing generation gap, and many other ways technology forms both our lives and our faith."

"In the digital age, the church must not run from technology. Rather, Christians must learn to steward the tools of our day to effectively 'go into all the world' and to 'grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.' Join us as we seek to become better digital disciples while wisely guarding against the dangers that exist online."

I am sure that this is going to be a great opportunity for us, and I hope that you will be there and invite someone to come with you!

Oh yeah...there's a soup and chili lunch, too! And Trunk or Treat?!? What a day!

Until next time,
Jeremy Gargis
